Good morning faculty and staff,

Earlier this week, in a communication to you, I shared that we would begin the process of returning to work on Monday, May 18 (Phase 3). While a lot of work has been done to get us to this point, we still have more to do to get us to a place that is safe for our return. Therefore, we are pushing our plan back by one week. We will continue to work remotely the week of May 18th and plan on a limited return of staff tentatively the week of May 25th. Please know that our safety is paramount and we will adjust as needed. Thank you for your dedication, understanding and commitment to the college.

Sincerely,

Larissa Littleton-Steib, Ph.D.
